I am glad that the Directorate of Local Fund Audit has come out with a manual of its own, which will act as a guide to the audit personnel. It was a long felt need, finally got accomplished thanks to the sincere efforts of the team of officials of the LFA Directorate. It embodies different aspects of audit including new concepts and methodologies, ethics of audit and a host of other things, which the audit personnel will definitely find useful in discharging their responsibilities.

I am sure, this will go a long way in streamlining and strengthening the local fund audit system in the long run.

PREFACE

The Directorate of Local Fund Audit became functional as a separate Heads of Department with effect from 1st October, 2012. The immediate task for the new Directorate was to identify the key areas, where improvement was needed to strengthen the system of local fund audit. Then, drafting of an audit manual for the audit personnel was felt barely necessary. Therefore, the task was included in the Work Plan for 2013-14 and some senior auditors and audit superintendents were pressed into service for this purpose under the guidance of one of the Deputy Directors of the Directorate. The draft was scrutinised and fine-tuned in several rounds of sittings and it was finally submitted for approval of Government.

It's my pleasure that the Audit Manual is now going to be published with the approval of Government. I am confident that this will be immensely helpful for the audit personnel of LFA Organisation and strengthen the audit system. I express my sincere thanks to the senior officers and the audit personnel in the Directorate, who have contributed significantly for bringing out this manual.

At the outset of its functioning under the provisions of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Act, 1948, there were two separate Local Fund Audit Organisations functioning simultaneously viz. one for audit of the accounts of the Urban Local Bodies, Religious Endowments etc. under the Administrative control of Finance Department and the other for audit of the accounts of Panchayat Samities and Zilla Parishads under the Administrative Control of the Community Development and Rural Reconstruction Department. ## 2.6 ROLE OF AUDIT IN FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION

In view of the present socio-economic condition of the state and utilisation of huge amounts of money for various developmental programmes / schemes in both Rural and Urban Sectors, the role of audit has become very important. In such a stage, the responsibility of audit is not only to verify the accuracy and completeness of accounts maintained, but also to disclose in a clear and firm language, the defalcation, misappropriation, fraud or misuse of public fund, if any, by the authority concerned that come to the notice of the auditor. Such disclosure will act as a deterrent to the tendency of the unscrupulous officials to commit irregularities in the sphere of financial administration. On the other hand, the recommendations/suggestions of audit will help the executives / local authorities to be prudent while spending public money, to remain cautious, to maintain integrity and uprightness in financial transactions. Besides, the comments of audit on the financial administration of a local body will also develop awareness among the public regarding management of tax payers' money by the Government or by the local authorities. Therefore, the audit functions as a guide in the matter of financial administration of Local Authorities instead of being a fault finding machinery.

CHAPTER-4

GENERAL PRINCIPLES, OBJECTIVES, MANDATE, METHODOLOGY, STANDARDS & ETHICS

4.1 PRINCIPLES OF AUDIT

The basic principles of audit as defined in “An introduction to Indian Government Accounts and Audit” (paragraph-19) is that Audit should be conducted by an agency independent of the authority charged with the duty of carrying on the business and of maintaining accounts of transactions, which pass through his hands. The intention behind such independence is to give free hand to the Auditors to point out, without fear or favour, any irregularity or impropriety in financial transactions, if detected in audit. The audit must see the following:-

- (i) That all amount receivable are duly received, credited to the proper head of accounts and lodged in the nearest Government Treasury, so far as audit of receipts are concerned.
- (ii) As regards expenditure, its main duty is to see :
  - (a) that it is warranted by the Act, and that no amount is disbursed without proper authority and provision of funds in the budget;
  - (b) that the expenditure is necessary for the public service and not prima facie extravagant;
  - (c) that the payment is, as a fact, made to the proper person and that has been so acknowledged and recorded that a second claim on the same account is impossible; and
  - (d) that the vouchers are in the prescribed form and that they are otherwise in order.

Besides, the Auditor, in auditing the accounts shall also examine:-

- (i) that the accounts of the Local Body have been kept and presented in proper forms;
- (ii) that the particular items of receipt and expenditure are stated in sufficient detail;
- (iii) that the payments are supported by adequate vouchers and authority;
- (iv) whether all sums received or which ought to have been received, have been brought to the accounts;
- (v) whether the expenditure has been incurred lawfully;
- (vi) whether any loss has been sustained by the negligence or misconduct of any person;
- (vii) whether a separate account has been maintained by the authority where the trading activities are undertaken; and
- (viii) that the revenue of the Local Authority is not utilised for the benefit of a particular person or a section of the community unless:-

- (a) the amount of expenditure involved is insignificant, or
- (b) a claim for the amount could be enforced in court of law, or
- (c) the expenditure is in pursuance of a recognised policy or custom.

Further-

- (i) The auditor should regard himself not only as an examiner of Local Accounts but also as a financial advisor of the Local Authorities, whose accounts are audited.
- (ii) Auditor shall be careful not to infringe on the questions of administration which have nothing to do with accounts or which are other wise outside the province of legitimate enquiry.
- (iii) The Auditors must be careful to avoid friction with any official with whom they come in contact. They are also forbidden to place themselves under any obligation however trivial to persons connected in any manner with the offices, the accounts of which are subject to their audit.
- (iv) The Auditors must be polite in their behaviour, remarks and language while dealing with the Local Authorities during audit.

4.2 OBJECTIVES

Audit is an indispensable instrument of financial control. In other words Audit performs, in the financial field, the same functions as the police in the maintenance of Law and order. As such, its main objective is to safeguard the interest of tax payers against any extravagance, carelessness, embezzlement or fraud on the part of the officials dealing with the financial management and to ensure that utilisation of public money has been made with due regularity and propriety and that the rules and orders framed by the Government in regard to the financial matters have been observed in true spirit.

An Auditor, while conducting audit of an Institution, should see that the prescribed rules and regulations with regard to financial matters are strictly observed by the Executives. The main object is to secure value for the tax payers' money by seeing that expenditure is not irregularly and wastefully incurred.

4.3 MANDATE

- (i) Under the provision of Section-3 of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Act, 1948, the accounts of any Local Authority whose accounts are declared by the Provincial Government by notification to be subject to audit under this Act, shall be audited in the manner provided by or under this Act.
- (ii) Apart from the provisions of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Act, 1948 as mentioned above, the Acts and Rules relating to different Local Bodies, as listed out in para-2 of chapter-2 of this Manual, also provides that the accounts of the respective Local Bodies shall be subject to audit under the provisions of the Orissa Local Fund Audit Act, 1948.

- (iii) Besides, the audit of accounts of some Government, semi Government and Non-Government Organisation has been entrusted to the Local Fund Audit Organisation by orders of the State Government from time to time.
- (iv) Audit of accounts of the Religious Endowments has also been entrusted to this Audit Organisation as per the orders of the State Government. But, conduct of audit of such Religious Endowments except Sri Jagannath Temple, Puri is subject to realisation of "Audit fee" as provided in para-6 of Chapter-13 of this Manual.
- (v) Under the provisions of Rule-13 of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Rules, 1951, the Examiner of Local Accounts, considering the report of the Auditor on misappropriation of cash / embezzlement / fraud or loss of stock & stores or any grave financial irregularities, may order for a special / detailed up-to-date audit on the accounts of such Local Body.
- (vi) If an accounting authority, whether a private institution or a Government undertaking makes a request to the Examiner of Local Accounts to conduct audit of his accounts for a particular period, the Examiner of Local Accounts, if he thinks fit, may take up audit of such institution subject to realization of audit fee.
- (vii) The State Government may also order to undertake special audit of the accounts of any Government or Public undertakings of the Govt of Odisha or Non Government Institutions.
- (viii) Audit should be taken up and completed in all respect within the allotted time and under no circumstance, arrear in audit should be encouraged. However, if any arrear accrues, audit should be taken up for the current as well as arrear years simultaneously.
- (ix) Under the provisions of Rule-11 of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Rules, 1951, the Examiner of Local Accounts can take up audit of accounts for any particular period or any set of financial transactions of any accounting year/years.

4.4.5 OBJECTION STATEMENT

Apart from the statutory provisions regarding the objection statement, the following executive instructions have also been issued there-on from time to time for necessary guidance of the Auditors.

- (i) In order to assist the Local Officers in the prompt disposal of the objections, Auditors shall as far as practicable list their objection from day to day. For each Department, the Auditor shall as far as practicable issue separate objection statements so that each Department can proceed to take immediate action on its own objections as soon as they are received.
- (ii) All accounts objections which can be removed on the rules being complied with shall be so removed during the audit. Every effort shall be made to reduce to a minimum the audit objections to be dealt with after the conclusion of the audit, and it is a part of the Auditor's duty to render every assistance to the Local Office in attaining this objective.
The efficiency of an Auditor will largely be judged by his success in having the objections cleared before he/she leaves.
- (iii) The Auditor shall prepare each objection statement in duplicate and issue the first copy of the same to the Local Authority. The duplicate copy of the same shall be with him for reference in case of non return/missing of the original copy at the level of the Local Authority.

Besides, the Auditor, during the course of audit, should not leave the various accounts records, registers, cheque books, etc as produced before him for the purpose of audit, unguarded, if, for any reason, he goes out of office as by this there is every likelihood of missing of records, cheques etc.

4.4.7 COMMUNICATION WITH HEADS OF AUDITEE INSTITUTIONS

The Auditor shall correspond with the Accounting Authority / Head of the Office, whose accounts are being audited for the purpose of:-

- (i) production of books of accounts / any document which he may deem necessary for the proper conduct of audit;

If the required documents are not produced in spite of this written report, the whole case shall be submitted to the Examiner of Local Accounts through the District Audit Officer for further action in the matter. No document shall be left un-audited without the expressed orders of the Examiner of Local Accounts in each case.

Further, on receipt of the report from the Auditor regarding non-production of accounts records / any such documents, which he deems necessary for the proper conduct of audit in spite of repeated requests to the Local Authority, the District Audit Officer may take the following steps to settle the problems faced by audit.

- (a) He shall proceed or depute an Audit Superintendent to the Local Body concerned to conduct review on the progress of audit going on there and to hold discussion with the Local Authority regarding the non production of records as reported by the Auditor and to settle the problems on the spot for smooth production of records and timely completion of audit.

- (b) If the required records / documents are not produced, the District Audit Officer shall send a detailed report thereon to the Examiner of Local Accounts for necessary action at his level.

This power shall be exercised by an officer not below the rank of District Audit Officer.
- (ii) For the purpose of section-6(a), the summons may be served not necessarily on the Head of the Offices, but on any whole time paid servant of the Local Authority having the actual custody of the accounts of the Institutions. The details of such records required to be produced before the audit should be stated in the summons. A date with time and place should be fixed for production of these records.
- (iii) Similarly, in case of section-6(b) of the Act, the summons may be issued on the persons actually required to appear before the Auditor in view of his position in the Local Authority as accountable for or having the custody or control of any such document.
- (iv) Summons should not be issued as a matter of routine and in any case not before at least two requisitions issued under due acknowledgement of the Local Authority, have proved infructuous. Proper service and return of the summons should be kept on the appointed date, at the specified place; the summoning officer shall be present at the appropriate time. If the accounts / documents are not produced, a declaration to that effect duly attested by two witnesses viz. any official of the Local Authority or other respectable person should be obtained.
- (v) In case of audit of any institution under the statutory responsibility of the Examiner, where it is necessary to issue summons under Section 6 of the Local Fund Audit Act, 1948, the Auditor should bring such matter to the notice of the Audit Superintendent/District Audit Officer for taking recourse to Section 6 of the Act. In turn, the Audit Superintendent/District Audit Officer should himself visit the spot to enforce production of records.

In case of bigger institutions like Municipality/Universities, Municipal Corporation etc. if it becomes necessary to issue summons, the Audit Superintendent should report the matter to the District Audit Officer either on the basis of reports received from the Auditor or on his own findings in course of visit to such institution. - (vi) In case the documents are not produced in spite of summons, a written report should be submitted to the Chairman, Vice Chairman or any other Managing Authority of the Local Body concerned. If the required documents are not produced, the case should be reported to the Examiner of Local Accounts along with the connected papers for further action in the matter.

4.4.10 MISAPPROPRIATION/EMBEZZLEMENT

In case of misappropriation/embezzlement, the Auditor shall bring this matter to the notice of the Examiner of Local Accounts through District Audit Officer as provided under Rule 13 of OLFA Rules, 1951.

On receipt of such report from the auditor on embezzlement / fraud/ misappropriation of cash or loss of stock & stores or grave financial irregularities detected in course of audit of the accounts of any Local Body/Auditee institution, the District Audit Officer shall immediately take the following steps before reporting the matter to the Examiner of Local Accounts for further action thereon.

He shall send a copy of such report to the concerned

Administrative Department as well as GA (Vigilance) Department for necessary action at their level.

Further, if the Examiner of Local Accounts deems fit he may order for a detailed up-to-date audit on the accounts of the Local Body concerned informing the State Government of the circumstances rendering such audit necessary as per Rule-13 of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Rules-1951.

4.4.11 TIME ALLOWED FOR REPLIES TO OBJECTION

All objection statements shall be returned to the Auditor from one to three clear working days before the close of the audit, according as he shall direct whether the objections have all been replied to or not. The Auditor shall have his report and schedules completely written up by the close of the audit.

The Local Officer shall settle the objections finally before returning the objection statement to the Auditor but a whole statement may not be held back simply because of inevitable delay in settling one or two objections in it.

4.4.12 DEFERMENT OF AUDIT BY LOCAL AUTHORITY

It is the statutory obligation of the local bodies, whose accounts are declared by the State Government to be subject to audit under the provisions of this Act, to keep the accounts and registers ready for audit in time and avoid making requests for postponement of audit after receipt of notice (audit intimation) from the auditor. If the prescribed accounts and registers are properly maintained and they are periodically examined and closely supervised there will be no necessity to ask for postponement of audit. Since the accounts of the local authorities subject to this Act shall be audited by the Auditor not less often than once in twelve months unless the State Government or the Examiner of Local Accounts direct other wise and the Auditor proceeds to take up such audit after the close of a financial year, (accounting year) there is less scope for the local authority to ask for postponement of audit on the ground of non-maintenance of accounts .

If any local authority requires to postpone the audit on some valid ground other than that of non-maintenance of accounts, he shall make a written request to the District Audit Officer immediately after receiving the intimation for audit, mentioning the reasons for such postponement under intimation to the auditor concerned.

4.4.13 SUPERVISION OF AUDIT WORK

It shall be the responsibility of the supervisory staff in charge of the audit parties to ensure smooth and timely completion conduct of audit. For this purpose, the supervisory Staff, particularly the Audit Superintendents, should visit each institution at least twice during the course of audit (in respect of bigger institutions only). Audit of small institutions requiring four to five man-days for completion of audit need not ordinarily be supervised.

While conducting supervision or review on the progress of audit, the supervisory staff shall, not only review the progress of audit and ensure smooth and timely completion of audit but also solve the problems faced by the Auditors as regards non-production of accounts records and registers or non-cooperation of the local authority to audit, if any, by personal contact with the local authority concerned. No supervision of audit or review on the progress of audit should ordinarily be taken up in case of Gram Panchayats, and aided High Schools etc.

4.4.14 PREPARATION OF DRAFT AUDIT REPORTS

As provided under section 8 of the Act, after completion of audit the auditor shall, as soon as possible, prepare a report on the accounts audited and examined and shall deliver such report to the District Audit Officer (appointed under the provisions of the Act to discharge the functions of the Examiner of Local Accounts at District office level), who shall forward a copy thereof to the local authority, administrative authorities of the local body concerned and Examiner of Local Accounts as prescribed by the Government.

Rules - 14, 20 & 21 of the Odisha Local Fund Audit Rules 1951 and Section 9 of the Act also prescribe the components and contents of the Audit Report. As such, the report shall contain the following:-

The schedules shall deal with the technical irregularities, defects and omissions in accounts and registers. They shall be in Forms 'A & B' (as provided under Rule-14). Form 'A' shall contain technical irregularities in payment and adjustment vouchers and form 'B' shall contain the technical irregularities, defects and omissions in accounts and registers. The schedules shall be left in the local office till the next audit, when the next auditor shall examine them to see that every item has been disposed of.
- (ii) A statement of
  - (a) every payment which appears to the Auditor to be contrary to law;
  - (b) The amount of any deficiency or loss, which appears to have been incurred by the negligence or misconduct of any person; and

PLAN & PROGRAMME

5.1 AUDIT PLANNING

Planning is inevitable for attainment of a particular goal. A sound audit planning should fit into the long term and short term goals of audit. These goals need to be identified and framed in consonance with the overall 'vision and mission' of the organisation. Quality at the stage of audit planning can be enhanced by regular interaction between top management and other team members / officers involved in the audit process to ensure that all critical areas have been adequately addressed, proper planning made for selection of projects, basic formalities observed and operational guidelines adhered to.

Audit planning is an annual exercise for forthcoming audit year comprising a detail plan and broad frame work of audit. All District Audit Officers are required to prepare Annual Audit plan prior to the commencement of Audit year. It has to be prepared keeping in view the pending years of accounts of the auditee institutions, the availability of manpower, priorities of audit, risk areas of audit, vulnerable areas and sensitivity of the field.

The main objective of annual audit plan is to see:-

- that all significant and deserving auditable institutions have been covered under priority basis;
- that a framework has been made to identify the institutions, programmes etc which are significant and vulnerable to risks and serious financial irregularities;
- that available resources and manpower can be utilised optimally for achieving the short term and long term goal of audit objectives;
- that redundant audits are minimised.

In order to achieve the audit objective, planning should be made to cover as many audit institutions/units as feasible with regard to the availability of human resources. However, the less-vulnerable and less or non-sensitive areas should not be left unaudited for prolonged periods and they should be covered in a cycle of three to four years. The periodicity and duration of audit should also be reviewed from time to time to ensure optimum utilization of available resources.

The district level audit plan shall be communicated to the Directorate much ahead of the audit year for review and preparation of annual audit plan for the state as a whole.

CHAPTER-6

CONCEPTS OF FINANCIAL & THEMATIC AUDIT

6.1 Financial Audit

6.1.1 Origin and Definition

The word 'audit' has been derived from the Latin word 'audire' which means 'to hear'. In old days, a person was appointed to check the accounts of the parties responsible for financial transactions. He used to call them and hear the explanations needed. The person, who heard the accounts, came to be known as auditor.

Originally, the object of an audit was limited. It included only the ascertainment of the fact whether the accounting party has properly recorded the receipts and payments of cash on behalf of his boss. Hence, it was merely a cash audit, but the scope of audit today has much widened. The most commonly accepted definition of audit is given by Montgomery, a leading American accountant, "Auditing is a systematic examination of the books and records of a business or other organization, in order to ascertain or verify, and to report upon, the facts regarding its financial operations and the results thereof."

The auditing of books of accounts of a concern is carried on in a scientific and systematic manner. The technique of auditing is based on scientific principles. It is not carried on haphazardly and is conducted by persons who are technically qualified and fully experienced in the job of examining the books of account of various types of concerns. It is not simply a mechanical comparison of accounting records with evidences or statement and checking of correctness only. It also does not simply mean ticking of entries with related vouchers. It, however, contemplates verification of accounting records with certain pre-determined objectives, testing their reliability and competency vis-à-vis acts, rules, bye-laws framed for the purpose and finding out adequacy of evidences for those records. It involves critical assessment of whole affairs of a concern. It involves thorough examination, which is essentially retrospective and analytical. The record which has to be examined is not prepared by the auditor himself. If he does it, he acts as an accountant. Then the audit is carried on regularly or periodically. Generally it is done after the final accounts have already been prepared and thus it may be monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or annually. Big concerns may even get it done throughout the year.

The auditor has to satisfy himself as to the truth and fairness of the statement of financial affairs of the business of transactions. He has to give his report honestly to the owner of the concern as well as to the authority by which audit is undertaken. His integrity, honesty and independence are essential otherwise the very purpose of audit may be defeated. He examines the books of accounts and checks their arithmetic accuracy. He has also to ascertain the various policies as regards the operation and control of the concern and how far they have been carried out by management and to what extent the accounts reflect them. He has to form an opinion as to the ability of financial statements to convey clearly the meaning of what they purport to stand for.

6.1.2 Auditing and Accountancy

Auditing is analytical and essentially retrospective whereas Accountancy is primarily constructive and concerned with correct recording of business facts. The existing records are subjected to critical analysis for proving or disproving their accuracy. Auditing really begins where accountancy ends. An auditor commences his work when all the accounts and statements have already been prepared. An accountant is primarily a constructionist; an auditor is primarily an analyst. Auditing is generally carried on at the end of the financial year or periodically and is governed by the code of conduct and standards laid down by its profession. An auditor must submit the report to the proprietor/chief of auditee organization as well as to the audit authority after the completion of his audit work.

6.1.3 Advantages of financial audit

- (i) It ensures the correctness of the account to a great extent. The truth and fairness of the financial statements are certified which helps a lot to the auditee institution, proprietors, management or anybody who deals with a particular concern. The reliability of the accounts and financial statements, thus, is increased.
- (ii) It enables the detection and prevention of frauds and errors and thus it serves not only as a corrective measure but exercises a great moral influence on the whole staff putting a check upon the dishonest employees.
- (iii) A regular audit makes the staff so alert and vigilant that the books of account and all other records are kept up-to-date. Thus, it prevents the application of wrong principles and methods in accountancy, as well as carelessness and irregularity on the part of the members of the staff.
- (iv) The audited accounts enable the comparison of accounts from year to year and thus the fluctuations, if any, may be accounted for. Moreover, through such comparison and analysis, the management /auditee institution possesses the facts upon which it may reasonably base its decision for framing future policy for the benefit or welfare aspect of the concern.

- (v) In case of loss by fire/theft or other natural calamities, the compensation may be claimed from the insurance company or aid from Government can be availed in case of Government institution on the basis of the previous audited accounts. The estimates for the claim must be scientific and based on reliable past records.
- (vi) The audited accounts are taken to be more reliable by the Government authorities or any other authorities for the purposes of tax-assessment, insurance coverage, availing of grant-in-aid from any institution or Government etc.
- (vii) Audited accounts are more reliable as evidence in the court of law.

6.1.4 Objects and scope of financial audit

The principal objective of audit has been changing with the advancement in the principles and conduct of business. Earlier the main objective was to ensure the correctness of accounting for all the receipts and payments. Now a days the main object of auditing is not only to ensure the correctness of accounting and detection of errors and frauds but also to form an independent judgement, opinion about the regularity and reliability of accounting records and truth and fairness of financial state of affairs and working result. Detection of errors and frauds is simply an incidental object. Thus the subsidiary objects of audit are as follows:

- (1) Detection of errors
- (2) Detection of frauds
- (3) Prevention of errors and frauds

6.1.5 Detection of errors

Errors may arise at various stages in book keeping records. Generally, such errors occur in the accounts innocently but sometimes they are deliberately committed to cover some dishonest transaction. They may occur while preparing documents such as invoices, credit notes or statements etc., or while casting, carrying forward, posting and balancing. Some of the errors may be easily detected if the same affect the trial balance, while others may necessitate detailed checking for their detection. The errors may occur because of the carelessness of the staff or their ignorance of the principles of accounts. The former are called clerical errors and latter are called errors of principles. These errors, in general, may be of following types:

(A) Clerical or technical errors

- (i) Errors of omission.
- (ii) Errors of commission.
- (iii) Errors of duplication.
- (iv) Compensating errors.

(B) Errors of principles

(A) Clerical or technical errors

(i) The errors of omission arise when any transaction is omitted wholly or partially from being recorded in the books of account. The omission can be honest or deliberate. Such error may occur if, for example, purchases worth Rs.5000/- were made but no record was kept in the books of account. Similarly, if the insurance premium has been paid for the whole year but the books of account show the payment for three quarters only and no entry appears in the account for the outstanding quarter. The auditor may find it out by checking the receipt or making comparison with that of last year or by examining the accounts. But it is not so easy to trace them in many instances. Sometimes, such omissions are deliberately made by the employees with an intention of committing some fraud or manipulating accounts. These errors affect the accounts and profit or loss materially. They may even affect the financial statement. It requires great care to detect such omissions. These errors, in general, do not affect the trial balance. However, if there is partial omission it would affect the trial balance and may be traced out easily.

(ii) The errors of commission occur because of incorrect records made in the books of account. They may consist of wrong entries, posting, casting, calculation and carry forwards. For instance, the purchases worth Rs.5100/- may be entered in the books of account for Rs.1500/-, or the rent paid to be posted to the debit side of the cash book may be posted to the credit side, or the same amount may be posted twice to the same account or posted by wrong amount or a wrong calculation of the amount may be made. The agreement of the trial balance would depend upon the nature of the mistake committed by the staff. If, for example, wrong calculation are made of the value of goods it would not affect the trial balance; but if balance of an account has been taken wrongly or casting or carrying forwards are made wrongly, they would affect the trial balance. Such errors are common but it is comparatively simple to discover them by a cautious routine checking of books of account.

(iii) The errors of duplication are also clerical errors and occur if the same transaction has been recorded twice in the books of original entry and also posted twice in the ledger. For instance, purchases worth Rs.2000/- may be recorded twice in the accounts. As these errors would not affect the agreement of the trial balance, it is not so easy to trace them. But with a little care, it may be traced out by an auditor while checking the vouchers and other records.

(iv) A compensating error may arise when errors counteract each other. If an error is committed for Rs.500/- on the debit side and per chance, another error of the same amount is committed on the credit side, they would compensate each other. They may be dissimilar in nature, but counteract each other by the same amount. They would not affect the trial balance and thus may be difficult to be traced by the auditor. Such errors may have far reaching consequences as it considerably change the figures of the head of account.

B. Errors of principle

They arise when the transactions are not recorded in the books of account according to the fundamental and accepted principles of accounts and not according to act, rules and provisions framed for the purpose of the accounting procedure of the auditee organization concerned. These errors may consist of, for instance, wrong allocation of assets on a wrong basis, or making incorrect provision of expenditures by not following the guidelines, act, rules or circulars etc. These errors are important as they affect the profit or loss and the financial statement materially. They may be deliberate also. In that case it would be a matter of deep concern for the auditor. He must always be on the lookout for such errors. Mere routine checking of the books of account may not help in detecting such errors and only intelligent, careful and thorough checking may disclose them. The auditor has to be very careful about such types of errors.

The detection of errors is an important part of an auditor's duties since it involves the accuracy of the accounts and the statements. He has always to be very careful about these errors, particularly for those errors which might have been deliberately made by the trusted officers of the concern. Although the auditor's duty is confined to careful and intelligent enquiry only, yet he must exercise reasonable care and skill in connection with the detection of errors. It is supposed that an audited account is free from errors.

6.1.6 Detection of frauds

The detection of frauds by the auditor is also considerably important and is more difficult than the detection of errors. He has to take pains to unearth it. While doing so, he should always avoid any hostility and mistrust towards the staff of the auditee organization and should always be polite and tactful. At the same time he should be bold enough to carry on thorough investigation the moment his suspicion is aroused. The discovery of fraud is not the principal object of the annual audit but it does not mean that the auditor should be negligent in detection of fraud. Frauds connected with the account take place either (1) by the misappropriation of cash or loss of stock and stores or (2) by the falsification of account without any misappropriation.

The misappropriation of cash may take place in two ways (i) by omission of receipts or acknowledging a lesser amount than actually received and (ii) by inclusion of fictitious payments or recording more payments than actually made. It is more difficult to detect the former than the later. Some of the examples of misappropriation of cash are as follows:

- (i) Cash sales may not be recorded at all and money received on that account may be misappropriated.
- (ii) Record of credit sales may be omitted and money received from payer/ customers later may be pocketed.
- (iii) Money received from a payer/customer may be pocketed and when received from the other payer/customer, that may be shown as received from the former customer. This process may be continued for a long time and it may involve cash received from many customers.
- (iv) Cash received from sale or returns may be pocketed.
- (v) Payment on account of fictitious purchases of 'dummy' workers may be recorded and cash on those accounts may be pocketed.
- (vi) Payments through Cheques not showing in the bank column of cash book but showing in the cash column thus resulting in misappropriation of cash.
- (vii) Self-cheque encashed not showing in the receipt side of the cash book.

To detect the fraud, the auditor should be careful enough in comparison of records in the cash book with other subsidiary books and the original vouchers. To detect the fictitious payment made, they examine carefully all the original vouchers, invoices and wage-sheets etc and other available direct evidences.

The chances of misappropriation of goods/ loss of stocks and stores are greater in case of valuable goods. Its detection is not easy. Much will depend upon proper arrangement of issue of items from stock and accuracy of stock records. A continuous vigilance has to be maintained over the issue of materials, records of sales, purchases and stocks. The more efficiently the stock is maintained and periodically checked, lesser the chances of misappropriation of goods/loss of stocks and stores.

The falsification of accounts, without any actual misappropriation of cash or goods, involves greater intricacy and is more difficult to discover. It is undertaken to conceal the true position of the concerned institution/organization. The object of such manipulation may be with a view to showing their successful management by paying more diligence or to disposing of their shares in the concern at high profits or to avoid taxes by showing less profit. Such manipulation may be carried on in many ways; some of the method of manipulating account is as follows:

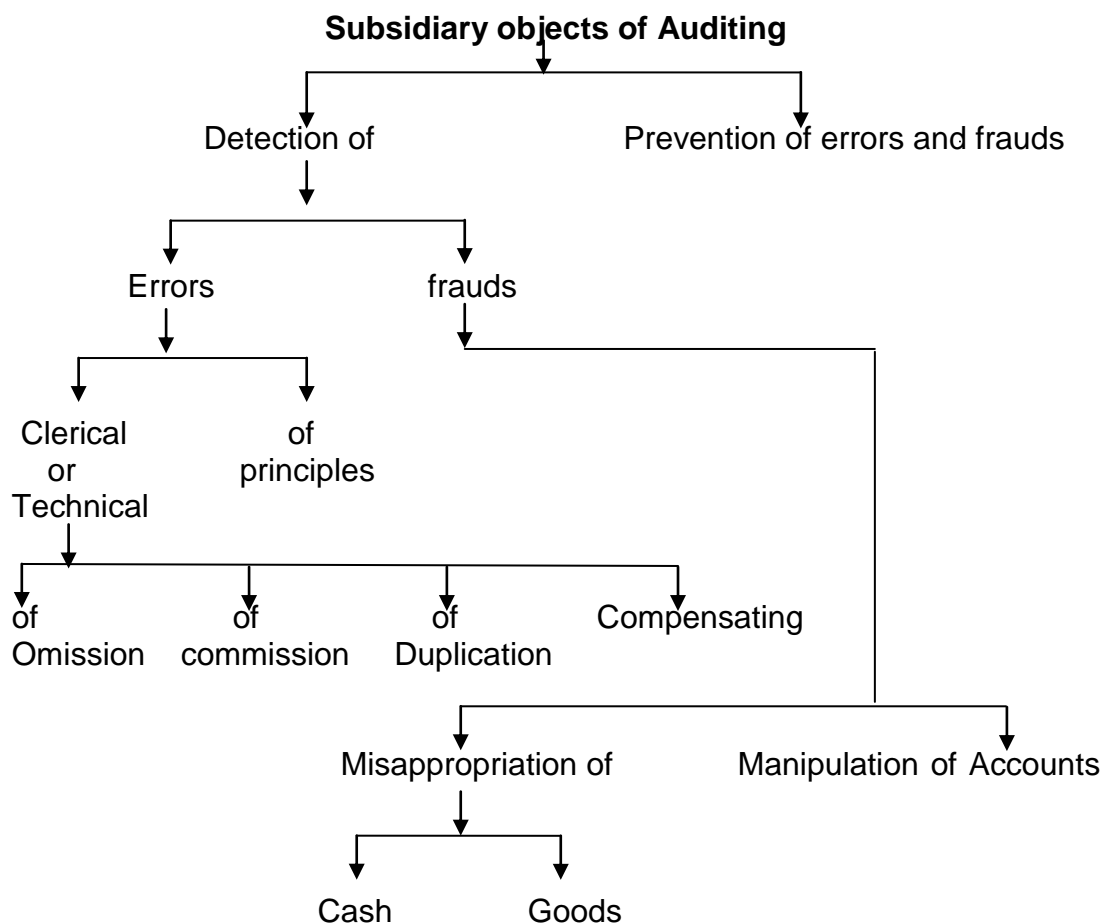

- (i) Recording fictitious sales or purchases.
- (ii) Recording or omitting in book of accounts various expenses.
- (iii) Charging revenue expenses as capital expenses or vice versa.

- (iv) Overvaluation or undervaluation of the stock, or other assets or liabilities.
- (v) Charging more or less amount to depreciation or provisions.
- (vi) Window-dressing

6.1.7 Prevention of errors and frauds

Besides the detection of various types of errors and frauds, an auditor also tries to prevent them. An auditor simply puts a moral check upon the staff by detecting them. Such moral check is imposed on the employees of the auditee organization. This would automatically make them alert and they would not carry any dishonest transaction as they will be afraid of being detected by the audit sooner or later.

6.1.8 The subsidiary objects of Audit is explained below in a tree diagram

6.2 THEMATIC AUDIT

6.2.1 General assumptions on audit

As per the General Guidelines issued by ICAI, “auditing is defined as a systematic and independent examination of data, statements, records, operations and performances (financial or otherwise) of an enterprise for a stated purpose. In any auditing situation, the auditor perceives and recognises the propositions before him for examination, collects evidence, evaluates the same and on this basis formulates his judgement which is communicated through his audit report.”

The aforesaid definition brings out the following features of an audit:

- i. An audit is a systematic and independent examination of the relevant records and documents.
- ii. The audit is not confined to financial audit only. It may be extended to other areas also, such as management audit.
- iii. Audit is conducted for a stated purpose, for example, the financial audit is conducted to ascertain whether they present a true and fair view of the financial position.
- iv. Every audit has to be based on evidence.
- v. The audit findings have to be communicated to the end-users.

6.2.2 Need for Thematic Audit

The need for thematic audit was felt because the financial audit including propriety audit could not display in full details the picture of performance and efficiency of an entity or scheme. The performance appraisal of an activity can be done in the light of given objectives to fulfil, as the objectives spell out the results expected from an activity. While conducting such audit, the socio-economic context has also to be kept in mind, particularly in case of public sector enterprises or government undertakings where the focus is on serving the people rather than mere profit making.

6.2.3 Meaning, significance and planning for Thematic Audit

Theme means a particular subject that is being discussed or described in a piece of writing. Thematic is understood as “of relating to or constructing a theme.” The purpose of thematic audit is to provide a mechanism which enables the entity to confirm that Government rules and regulations, implementation strategy and Quality Framework are being applied consistently state wide.

Thematic audit is evidence based and reliant on information gathered after examination of key-documents and joint physical verification. Each thematic audit is developmental in nature and encourages self-critical reflection. Where appropriate, it identifies good practice and makes recommendations to address areas where improvement would be of benefit. The Subjects selected for thematic audit may be a programme (revenue/receipt of expenditure), system, an entity itself or part thereof. The subjects may also be financial, nonfinancial and governance issues.

6.2.3.1 Formulation of Audit Plan

There should be annual or biennial plan for such audit after assessment of risk factors and taking into account the importance of theme.

An Audit plan should be prepared indicating scope/coverage of audit, objective of audit, allocation of resources and the time frame for completion. This will also include the formulation of a detailed Audit Programme. Necessary formats and questionnaires should be devised for collection of important data relating to various aspects of the Theme; not only from the auditee institution proposed to be visited but also from other units for consolidation and processing.

6.2.4 Thematic approach in LFA Organisation

Subjects of thematic audit are usually communicated by the Accountant General, Odisha under TGS arrangement after taking into account the criteria of materiality, coverage and the impact on the life of the people. Normally, major schemes involving substantial outlays with activities spread throughout the state should be selected. Further, schemes that are of interest to the public would merit consideration.

6.2.5 Audit Procedure & Approach for reviews

Obviously, it will not be practicable to prescribe a uniform pre-determined procedure/approach or guidelines for comprehensive review and scrutiny because “Themes” vastly differ in their concepts, scope and content, methodologies etc. Information available for analysis will also be diverse in nature. Audit methodologies include review of systems and structures, examinations of files, interviews/discussions with officials, analysis on Departmental data bases etc.

The procedure for thematic audit differs from theme to theme. If it is a program of revenue/receipt, it is necessary to examine whether appropriate and adequate systems and procedures are in place for:

- i. Proper assessment of receipts.
- ii. Prompt accounting.
- iii. Monitoring of unrealized revenues.
- iv. Safe custody of cash and secured parking.
- v. Organizational arrangements for the discharge of accounting functions.

If the theme relates to an agenda of expenditure Viz. I.A.Y. etc., audit is to look into eligibility of beneficiaries and implementations, methods adopted in selecting executants, review of viability of the project and management system to ensure that the work is properly and effectively supervised and executed and that there is accountability throughout various stages.

In judging performance, Audit should further be guided by the performance parameters prescribed by the Government, in case these have not been prescribed; Audit will be well within its rights to point out omission.

6.2.6 Audit Criteria and Evidence

Audit criteria are standards against which actual performance (adequacy of systems and practices and the economy, efficiency and effectiveness of activities) is compared or evaluated. They are required to assess existing conditions and produce audit findings (what is compared to what should be). It is important that audit criteria are as objective as possible, so that room for subjective interpretation is minimised. Audit criteria are based on the Acts, Rules & Regulations in force including guidelines on the schemes and programmes.

An audit is fundamentally a comparison of audit evidence to audit criteria to determine findings. The evidence is the information collected through various methods. Choosing the appropriate set of techniques for gathering evidence is crucial to audit process. The subject of audit, audit objective and audit criteria determine the choice of methods. Often, more than one method is necessary. Documents of the auditee such as files, accounts, registers, evaluation reports, progress report etc. provide the prime source of evidence in any performance audit. The other methods can supplement or provide reliability of the evidence from the auditee's documents. Questionnaires, Surveys and Interviews help in identifying deficiencies in implementation of social welfare and service delivery programmes. For choosing the most appropriate methods auditors should consider the audit environment, the resources available, the time-frame of the review, the competence and skills of audit team etc. Auditors should also pay attention to integrate different approaches so as to apply multiple approaches for collecting evidence on the same issues from different perspective. Audit evidence should be sufficient and appropriate. Whereas sufficiency refers to quantum, appropriateness relates to relevance and reliability of audit evidence.

6.2.7 Reliability of Audit Evidence

The reliability of audit evidence depends upon its source – internal or external and on its nature – visual, documentary or oral. It is also dependant on the circumstances under which obtained. Following points are useful in assessing the reliability of audit evidence.

- (a) External evidence (e. g. confirmation received from 3rd party) is generally more reliable than internal evidence.
- (b) Internal evidence is more reliable when related internal control functions satisfactorily.
- (c) Evidence in the form of documents and written representation is more reliable than oral representation.
- (d) Evidence obtained by auditor himself or herself is more reliable than that obtained through the entity.

6.2.7.1 Aspects to be covered and source documents

The principal source of evidence for audit conclusions will be the records of the auditee institutions. It is the primary duty of audit to ensure that the conclusion drawn about various themes, projects, programmes, activities and transactions etc. are based on sufficient, competent and relevant evidence. Evidence must be planned, gathered and analysed before any opinion can be reached. This may be gathered by:

- (i) Physical observation
- (ii) Collection of key documents, circulars, notifications, guidelines issued by Government
- (iii) Evaluation of the quality of internal control mechanism
- (iv) Discussion with concerned executives
- (v) Interview with concerned beneficiaries

Some of the aspects to be looked into in the course of Thematic Audit are as follows:-

- (i) Adequacy of investigations, surveys & feasibility studies
- (ii) Schedule of implementation
- (iii) Systems and procedures in force for implementation, monitoring, progress etc.
- (iv) Co-relation of physical and financial targets
- (v) Outcome of mid-term appraisals
- (vi) Impact of change in scope, if any
- (vii) Procedure of norms adopted for identification of eligible beneficiaries in the case of schemes meant to benefit certain specified sections of the population, such as families below the poverty line, tribal, scheduled castes, un-employed youth, women and children etc.
- (viii) Adherence to programme schedules and time & cost overruns, if any
- (ix) Assessment of projected/anticipated revenues in the case of Themes to generate revenue

These are, however only illustrative and not exhaustive.

Some of the documents or records that would need to be examined for the purpose of comprehensive review are project reports, investigation reports, plan & budget documents, guidelines framed for the "Theme", administrative and technical clearances, reports of inspection undertaken by personnel at various levels, reports of assessments by Departmental and external agencies, revenue records etc.

6.2.8 Sampling

The audit findings should be based on sampling and sampling techniques should be disclosed, as far as possible. Normally, statistical sampling techniques should be used and adequate sample size should be selected for enabling generalization of audit findings and also meeting the standard of sufficiency. Audit findings should be developed on the basis of audit tests carried out on the sample.

6.2.9 Field studies/Joint physical Verification

The next stage after sampling is carrying out studies and collection of information from field units. The examination and audit scrutiny of selected samples of transactions should be thorough and complete. For eliciting the maximum information, it will be useful to discuss details of the project/scheme with the concerned local authority.

There should be joint physical verification always. The Audit party and officer/officers of the Local body should constitute the Inspection Team. The joint verification report should be signed by both the parties.

During physical verification of projects, reasons for delay in execution should be analysed and bottlenecks, if any, identified.

6.2.10 Study Design Matrix & Issue Analysis

Auditor has to prepare a Study Design Matrix involving all type of issues associated with the theme and seek compliance from the local authority. By analysing different issues an independent and complete opinion can be formed. For example, while conducting Thematic Audit on IAY Scheme following issues are to be examined and commented upon.

- (i) Whether the funds released under the scheme has been utilised for the purpose for which it is released and up to the desired level.
- (ii) Whether the corresponding utilisation certificate is submitted within the timeframe.
- (iii) Whether due care has been taken to identify the eligible beneficiary under the scheme.
- (iv) Whether criteria for allocation of resources have been adhered to.
- (v) Whether adequate safeguards have been taken to extend the resources to the beneficiary targeted.
- (vi) Whether payment has been made to the beneficiary on a staggered basis depending upon the progress of work.
- (vii) Whether the funds under IAY are transferred directly into the beneficiaries' accounts.
- (viii) Whether supplementary assistance has been extended to the beneficiaries.
- (ix) Whether loans under Differential Rate of Interest (DRI) Scheme have been extended to the beneficiaries.

6.2.11 Over all macro assessment and reporting

Thematic audit should not be understood as a narration of instances of aberrations/shortcomings in implementation of the programme. It is an 'appraisal' intended for expressing an 'opinion' on the quality of internal controls and information systems, achievement of targets, quality of execution and realisation of value for money. It offers comments on relationship between physical and financial performance.

Thematic audit report must contain recommendations arising out of audit findings and cause of audit findings. The causes of underperformance should be determined so as to enable recommending remedial measures.

Besides the above, following points are to be taken into account while finalizing thematic audit report:

- i. Audit Report should be clear and easy to read and understand.
- ii. It should contain the instances of good performances.
- iii. Cases involving transgression of statutory provisions leading to substantial loss of public money are to be reported separately.
- iv. Series of less important irregularities indicative of common defect may be commented upon collectively.
- v. In drafting the reports, it is essential that a detached, dispassionate attitude is maintained and expressions suggestive of any political or biased opinion is avoided.
- vi. Graphs, diagrams, photographs with due attestation of the local authority may be placed in the report, so as to corroborate the audit findings.

Accuracy, brevity, clarity and purposeful focus should be hallmarks of the thematic audit report.

CHAPTER-8

AUTOMATION OF LOCAL FUND AUDIT (ALFA)

8.1 AUTOMATION OF LOCAL FUND AUDIT

Prior to the year 2011-12 the audit activities of the Local Fund Audit were processed manually. But with the advancement of information technology and introduction of e-Governance system, organization of Local Fund Audit has initiated on line system of functioning of audit work. Directorate of Local Fund Audit has developed its own website in the name of AUTOMATION OF LOCAL FUND AUDIT (ALFA). The ALFA provides details of information about the Local Fund Audit Organization i.e. Auditable Institutions, Annual Audit programme, Organizational Structure, Govt. Notifications & Circulars, Audit Reports etc. From the year 2012-13 onwards, preparation of audit programmes, generation and submission of audit reports, scrutiny and approval of audit report and monitoring of entire gamut of audit works are being processed through the ALFA system. All the statutory actions including surcharge action are also conducted and managed through the ALFA system. The development of on-line system of functioning has brought transparency and efficiency in audit work. At the same time, it has also helped to reduce the time and financial constraint in audit functions. The domain in ALFA system is open to general public and it has enabled to develop the interface between audit organization and the public. Hence, the on-line system of functioning of audit organization has given a new face to the Local Fund Audit organization.

Prior to implementation of the project, the entire process was in manual mode causing unnecessary delay and duplication in work, resulting in inadequate monitoring, absence of standardisation and public accessibility.

ALFA provides a complete e-solution for the audit process of Local Fund Audit Organisation starting from the formulation of Annual Audit Plan & Programme, assignment of audit to different parties, review of progress of audit, uploading and review of the audit report, tour management of the audit personnel, availability of audit reports in the public domain etc. to revolutionisation of the perspectives and profiles of the organisation.

It provides interface for all the functionaries within the organisation and with the auditee institutions under other Government departments. The citizens can have access to the rules, regulations as well as approved audit reports available in the system.

The Chartered Accountant Firms (CA Firms) undertaking accounts review of aided colleges can access the system, know their assignment status and upload reports.

The system provides for two way communication - from the field level to the headquarters and vice-versa. Important circulars and notifications are made available in the site for reference. Besides, there is an intra-mail service for internal communication.

The important functions of ALFA are explained below:

The screenshot displays the ALFA website interface. At the top, there's a header with the Odisha state emblem and the text "LOCAL FUND AUDIT ODISHA". Below the header, a navigation bar shows the time "11:18:06 AM" and a "LOGIN" button. The main content area is divided into several sections:

- CITIZEN SERVICES: A list of links including "1.OLFA Statutes (Act/ Rule)", "2.District Audit Offices(LFA)", "3.Auditee Institutions", "4.Audit Report", "5.R.T.I", "6.Miscellaneous", "7.Circulars / Notification", "8. Approved Audit Plan", and "9. Contacts".

The Automation of Local Fund Audit (ALFA) was launched in May, 2012 in order to effectively monitor the audit programme, issue of audit report, follow up action on the audit report such as initiation of surcharge proceedings, action and final recovery of the surcharged amount through Odisha Public Demand Recovery Act. It is an internet based system through which the real time reports are available. It is a comprehensive online audit management system comprising of various sub-systems to cater to the requirements of auditing operations.

8.2 INFORMATION FLOW OF ALFA

8.3 The ALFA functionalities involve the following activities

- Preparation of an accurate Annual Plan Programme
- Online Weekly Diary Management
- Systematisation of audit workflow
- Monitoring Weekly Diary
- Monitoring Tour Programme
- Member Reshuffling
- Institution Reshuffling
- Audit Reports Management through Common Audit Format
- Compliance management
- Surcharge management
- Audit report preservation
- Corrigendum management
- Grievance management
- Mailing service management
- Online query management system etc.

8.4 PREPARATION OF ANNUAL PLAN AND PROGRAMME

Preparation of Annual Plan & Programme through ALFA system involves the following steps:

8.4.1.1 Annual Plan & Programme in District Audit Offices

- i. Plan Initiation: The audit process for a new programme year is initiated by the Director, LFA.
- ii. Manage Auditors
  - (a) Office Management
  - (b) Party Formation

The District Audit Officer after getting information of initiation of the new plan programme from the Directorate through the system generated SMS allots Auditors for the Office work like Programme Auditor/ Surcharge Auditor etc. Then the Programme Auditor creates the Party and allots auditors in each Party and sends it for approval of the District Audit Officer who approves or rejects.
- iii. Manage Institutions(Party wise)
  - (a) Institution Selection
  - (b) Year of Accounts Selection
  - (c) Transit Days Allocation
  - (d) Approval of Party wise Annual Plan Programme by DAO:
The programme Auditor allots audittee Institutions against each party along with Pending year of accounts & type of audit to be conducted (general or thematic).
- iv. Reviewer Management.
The programme auditor allots one Reviewing Officer against each Institution.

8.4.2 Approval of Annual Audit Programme

- i. District Level by DAO: The DAO approves / rejects the proposal submitted by the programme auditor. After final scrutiny of the proposal, DAO sends the entire Draft Plan to the DLFA.
- ii. Directorate Level.

The Programme Auditor at DLFA makes a thorough scrutiny and sends the Draft Plans received from all DAOs to the Audit Superintendent (Programme, DLFA). The Audit Superintendent of DLFA forwards the same with his / her remarks to the AE-cum- Assistant Director. The AE-cum- Assistant Director forwards the same to the DE-cum-Deputy Director. The DE-cum-Deputy Director can modify the proposal and sends to the Director, LFA. The Director, LFA can approve or instruct the DE-cum-Deputy Director to make necessary changes.

Execution of above activity through ALFA system saves substantial time and manpower and provides the user with correct plan and programme.

8.5 ONLINE WEEKLY DIARY MANAGEMENT

This is the only State Govt. Organisation where daily performance of personnel is being monitored on-line, which shows everyone's contribution towards governance. Each auditor deployed for audit submits his/her daily official work (daily diary) online, which is made available to higher authorities for monitoring the work progress.

8.6 TOUR PROGRAMME MANAGEMENT (AUDIT SUPERINTENDENT/ DISTRICT AUDIT OFFICER)

Tour proposal initiation, its approval at Head Quarter level and tour report submission all are done online. These activities are followed with SMS service, so as to execute the process quickly. This helps higher authorities in monitoring the work progress as well as brings transparency in governance.

8.7 MEMBER RESHUFFLING

This module helps the DAOs in managing members (auditors) in a party. The proposal of dropping any member and adding any member to a party is initiated at district audit office level and the same is made available to Head Quarter for approval/rejection. Only after the Head Quarter level approval, the changes are made available to concerned user.

8.8 INSTITUTION RESHUFFLING

This module is similar to the above one. Through this module, DAO initiates the proposal for managing the institutions allotted to a party. The proposal of dropping any institution and adding any institution to a party is initiated at District Audit Office level and the same is made available to Head Quarter for approval/rejection. Only after the Head Quarter level approval, the changes are made available to concerned user.

8.9 AUDIT REPORT PREPARATION

This is the main feature of the system. Earlier there were 19 different formats for preparing draft audit reports for 19 different categories of auditee institutions. But for enhancing the clarity of the report after a number of discussions a Common Audit Format for all 19 categories of auditee institutions has been introduced.

It involves the following steps:

- i. Preparation of Draft Audit Report(DAR) by Lead auditor
  - (a) Entry of Para wise Audit findings as per Model Pro-forma
  - (b) Entry of Delinquent wise Surcharge
  - (c) Entry of Para wise Misappropriation/Loss of Stock & Stores
  - (d) Entry of Various Statements

- ii. Review of DAR by Reviewing Officer
- iii. Scrutiny & Approval of DAR by DAO
- iv. Publication of DAR

8.10 COMPLIANCE MANAGEMENT

According to the OLFA Act, 1948, Local Authority has to submit the compliance against each Audit Report within 60 days of receipt of the approved report. Since the reports are made available to public as soon as it is approved by DAO, now waiting time for receiving the report from DAO is saved. The compliances received, in hard copy, from Local authority are entered into the system for further processing.

8.11 Corrigendum Process for institutions other than GP

This process will be activated only for reports approved by DAO and preserved by the System. The corrigendum process is to be carried out at Surcharge Section. It is initiated at Surcharge Auditor level of each DAO.

Detail Process Flow

Before initiation of surcharge activity on an approved audit report, corrigendum process on that report must be completed.

Surcharge Auditor Activities on Corrigendum process:

District Audit Officer has to click on "Findings" button to view the draft corrigendum report prepared by Surcharge Auditor & Audit Superintendent along with Audit Superintendent's view in the screen.

District Audit Officer has to verify the things if found to be correct, he/she can certify the same by clicking on the "Certify Corrigendum" button; he/she can send back the findings to surcharge Auditor for modification along with his/her views. Each time after typing the comments, DAO has to click on the "Save" button. After certification, the "Print Corrigendum" button will be activated. For printing the corrigendum report DAO has to click on that button, then a screen will appear, where DAO has to enter details regarding to whom, it is required to be sent and save the same by clicking on the "Save" button. User has to click on the "Print" button to print the report.

8.12 ALFA-SURCHARGE PROCESS FLOW

Surcharge is initiated only after completion of Corrigendum Process. Depending upon the surcharge Amount, it is initiated at different levels as mentioned below.

Audit Superintendent can initiate surcharge for the cases where surcharge amount  $\leq$  Rs.50,000/- and DAO can initiate surcharge for the cases where surcharge amount  $>$ Rs.50,000/-.

9.1 INTRODUCTION

Audit is an instrument of financial control. It performs the same functions in the financial field as the police in the maintenance of law and order. As such, while performing such a significant work, the person who is officially designated as Auditor for the purpose, shall see that the interest of tax payers against any extravagance, carelessness or fraud on the part of the official or management in realization and utilization of public money and other assets is properly safeguarded. Besides, it must ensure that the accounts maintained truly represent facts that the rules and orders framed by competent authority in regard to financial matters have been duly obeyed; that the expenditure has been incurred with due regularity and propriety; and it must bring to notice of the competent authority any irregularity or impropriety in connection with the realization and utilization of public money without fear and favour.

Apart from the rules and regulations in regard to the financial matters, which an Auditor refers to in auditing, the personal zeal and interest of the Auditor in his work and the application of his own skill, personality and experience to the constantly changing facts presented before him carry the real value of an audit.

9.2 PHYSICAL VERIFICATION OF CASH AND STOCK & STORES

Under the provisions of Rule 20 (a) of the Orissa Local Fund Audit Rules, 1951, the auditor shall, before commencing the audit on the accounts of a Local Body, verify the cash balances, the securities held by the local authority, the postage stamps and also the stock of saleable forms, unspent balance of permanent advance, revenue court fee stamps, printed forms kept for issue of receipts for payment received. The result of verification shall be recorded in relevant book, so that when audit reaches that stage of check, he can see if the actual balance agrees with the book balance.

9.3 VERIFICATION OF SCHEDULES IN FORM 'A' & 'B'

The auditor shall examine the schedules in form 'A' & 'B' containing technical irregularities in payment and adjustment vouchers and technical irregularities, defects and commissions in accounts and registers respectively left with the local body by last audit for necessary compliance and shall see if the defects have been properly remedied.

9.4 CHECK OF RECOVERY OF SUMS SURCHARGED

Immediately before taking up an audit, the auditor shall check the recoveries relating to the surcharge cases pertaining to the local authority concerned with reference to the local records and satisfy himself that they have been duly credited to the local fund and report the matter to the District Audit Officer (Rule 15 of O.L.F.A. Rules 1951).

9.5 AUDIT OF RECEIPTS

The audit of receipts will ordinarily start with the cash book and in checking the receipts the entries will be traced from the various registers, counter foils of receipts, treasury challans, office copies of bills etc.

In dealing with receipts, the auditor should examine:

- (a) that the totals in the several registers are correct and all amounts shown as realised in the Daily Collection Registers / Subsidiary Registers are reflected in the cash book;
- (b) that the receipts in proper printed form have been granted in all cases over the dated signature of the head of the office or the person authorised to make such collection / to receive such dues;
- (c) that the receipts have not been appropriated for departmental expenditure;
- (d) that remissions of revenue have not been granted in any case without proper sanction;
- (e) that there are challans in support of the amounts directly credited by the parties at the Treasury;
- (f) that the amounts have been credited to the proper heads of account;
- (g) that the demands are correctly assessed and punctually and fully realised. Particular attention should be paid to loan, house rent and hire charges;
- (h) that collections are not unnecessarily retained in the hands of the collecting staff; and
- (i) the stock account of receipt books has been maintained properly.

The auditors must pay special attention to unusual delays in the remittance of collections to Treasury. If such delay is casual and relates only to small amounts, it may be merely noted as an irregularity. If, however, the delay is systematic and relates to large amounts, the matter should be specially dealt with in the Audit Report. They should see that there is no leakage of revenue for want of adequate rules regarding assessment and collection and suggest modifications of rules in force in such cases to the District Audit Officers. Apart from the general procedure for audit of receipts, mentioned above, the auditors have also to examine the following points while auditing the receipts of a local body from different sources.

9.5.1 TAXES AND NON-TAXES

- (i) It is primarily the responsibility of the Local Authorities to see that all items of revenue and other dues, which have to be brought to account, are correctly and promptly assessed, realised and credited to the Local Body fund. Under the various Acts relating to Local Bodies, the Examiner of Local Accounts has been entrusted with the audit of accounts in respect of both receipts and expenditure and as such, it is also one of the important functions of the Audit Department to see that all sums due to the Local Body have been realised and properly accounted for. It should also see that the initial accounts of demand have been properly prepared, that all items of demand have been entered in the accounts, that the demand arrived at in the case of taxes and fees is generally correct and that adequate steps have been taken to enforce recovery. Any investigation by audit in this regard must be so conducted as not to interfere with the executive responsibility.

- (ii) In conducting the audit of receipts, audit should ascertain that adequate regulations and procedure have been framed to secure an effective check on the assessment and collection of revenue and to see by an adequate detailed check that any such regulations and procedures are being observed and that demand, collection and balance statements are regularly prepared and agreed with the subsidiary registers of demand and collection and the balances are regularly reviewed or checked in the manner specified by the Statutory Rules, Government Orders or Regulations, if any. In the audit of receipts ordinarily, the general is more important than the particular.
- (iii) It would be necessary to ascertain what checks are imposed against the commission of irregularities at the various stages of collection and accounting and to suggest any appropriate improvement in the procedure.
- (iv) Ordinarily audit will see that no amounts due to local bodies are left outstanding on their books without sufficient reason. Audit will continue carefully to watch such outstanding and suggest to departmental authorities any feasible means for their recovery. Whenever any dues appear to be irrecoverable, orders for their write off should be suggested.
- (v) Frauds and embezzlements are not infrequent in the collection of revenue in local bodies. The system of revenue collection should be closely scrutinised to see whether the fraud or defalcation was rendered possible by any defect in the rules or whether it was due to neglect of rules on the want of supervision on the part of any person responsible for the administration of the fund. It is the duty of audit, therefore, at such investigations to suggest safeguards that are likely to prevent the recurrence of such frauds or defalcations.

- (vi) Objections for want of tax receipts in support of outstanding items of taxes and of payees receipts in support of disbursements made are serious ones, as such cases on investigation may, at times, disclose frauds or defalcations. Objections of this nature, therefore, deserve immediate attention and investigation. The auditor should, therefore, prepare a report thereon soon after the defect is noticed and communicate to the Executive Authority of the Local Body for necessary compliance.
- (vii) The more important points to be examined in the audit of assessment, collection and accounting of taxes and other receipts are given below.
  - (1) That the prescribed procedure such as the obtaining of higher sanction, the publication of proper notification, has been observed, wherever a new tax is levied or the rate of an existing tax is revised.
  - (2) That the assessment is in accordance with the scale, if any, fixed in the Act or Regulations. (Note:- Only a few assessments need be checked).
  - (3) That exemption has been granted only in cases entitled to exemption under the provisions of the Act or the Rules.
  - (4) That all taxable items have been entered in the appropriate Demand Registers and proper watch is also kept over the growth of revenue by obtaining Supplementary list of persons or properly liable to tax.
  - (5) That collections have been posted in the appropriate Column of the demand and arrear demand registers.
  - (6) That a Demand, Collection and Balance Statement has been prepared in the Register at the end of the year and the collection as noted in such statement agrees with the collection as entered in the collection Registers.
  - (7) That the writes-off of outstanding tax, if any, are supported by complement sanction and there is a record to show that the items are really irrecoverable.
  - (8) That the grant of remissions is in accordance with the rules or orders.
  - (9) That the arrears are not barred by limitation and legal action has been taken for recovery of the outstanding dues timely as per the provisions of the law.

Quantities of material used should be compared with the volume of work actually done with a view to verifying that savings due to abandonment or other-wise have not been utilized for additional work or that there have been no material alterations or modifications in the sanctioned design without the sanction of competent authority.
- (b) All payments and supplies of materials, etc should be made strictly in accordance with the contract agreements indicating no laxity in any of the terms. The rates provided in these contracts should be specifically scrutinised with reference to the sanctioned estimates and the schedule of rates to see that they do not allow any concession detrimental to the financial interest of the Government.
- (c) Quantities of the materials required for the work actually done should be worked out on the basis of the analysis given in the estimate or other established formulas and compared with the actual issue, both in the case of direct issue to work or issues to contractors.
